DOMESTIC AND GENERAL EXPANDS ITS COMMITMENT TO DOING GOOD IN ITS COMMUNITIES WITH NEW IKANO BANK ROBIN HOOD MARATHON EVENTS PARTNERSHIP

Domestic & General, the UK's leading appliance care specialist, is teaming up with the Ikano Bank Robin Hood Marathon Events to support its volunteer programme and help raise vital funds for local charities. Today's announcement is another step forward for Domestic & General's support for the local community and its commitment to fundraise for Framework, its chosen charity.

As one of the largest events in the Nottingham calendar, the event will attract around 12,000 entries across four races on Saturday 28th and Sunday 29th September 2019. With offices in Nottingham, Domestic & General is proud to embark on the partnership in its local community.

Julie Gowland, Domestic & General Site Director, said:

"As one of the city's biggest employees, we are delighted to be partnering with the Ikano Bank Robin Hood Marathon Events and to stand behind a great initiative for Nottingham. At Domestic & General we are committed to investing in people and we are pleased to be supporting all the runners, especially in the home city of one of our call centres. Good luck to all on the day!"

Judith Manson, Race Director, adds: "We are extremely proud to partner with Domestic & General; to share with them our amazing event as we celebrate 39 years of running in Nottingham. Volunteers are at the heart what we do, with over 500 helping out on the day from local community groups, charities, sport's and running clubs. Domestic and General's support will not only enhance the volunteers experience and allow us to develop this important area but also ensures our runners have the best support on the day.'
